Salvation Army To Have Drive For Discards

Major Charles W. Griffin, man-Men's Social Service Department, ar nounced today that during September she organization will conduct a special drive for all clothing, mattresses, blankets, etc.

Any discarded article is needed by the Salvation Army now, Griffin said. "As housewives pre pare for fall and winter by replac ing worn or out-of-date clothing. the Salvation Army asks that they donate their discards to help others," he said.

COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE TELEGRAPH SATURDAY, SEPT. 1, 1982

By ANDY LANG

There has been an increasing demand recently called hand print wallpaper of very high quality. The demand has been fostered by leading decorators and architects, who are utilizing it for home use, hotels, offices and other places where a luxury look is desired.

The average home owner, however, has to pass up this type of wallcovering for reasons of economy, much as he may admire its high styling in design and coloring. His admiration is accentuat ad when he reads and hears about the silk textures and other wallcoverings recently installed in various rooms of the White House. Some wallpaper manufacturers are certain that the trend, aided by the renewed interest in tradi tional decorating, soon will be apparent in homes of all types. They are endeavoring to assist the movement by turning out wallcoverings which are modest in price, yet have the appearance of luxury. At least one wallpaper company has developed new printing techniques which enables it to simulate silks, flocks and other high stylings. Durability has been made an immatant par of the product by the use of viny and acrylic coatings. These coat ings enable fabric wallcovering to be cleansed of stains by using soap, water and a sponge. Any readers who have tackled the job of removing ordinary wallpaper will be interested in the claim of those who make fabric wallcovering. It is said that the material can be removed from the wall merely by loosen ing a bottom corner and pulling an entire strip away. Future of Shale Oil Vital for U.S., Solons Told

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON (AP) — It seems inevitable that the nation's peace-time oil requirements will have to be met in part, some day, by the use of shale oil, the House Armed Services Committee has been told.

This prediction came from Navy Capt. Kenneth C. Lovell, director of Naval Petroleum and Oil Shale Reserves. He added:

Shale Reserves. He added.

"The Department of the Navy is convinced that it is necessary to encourage continued experimentation in the mining, production, and refining of oil shale and shale oil in order to prepare for the eventuality of having to use shale oil in time of emergency, or as a peacetime industrial and defense fuel supplement."

Lovell was testifying in support of a bill to spell out that the secretary of the Navy has custody and control of the Naval oil shale reserves.

Such legislation is necessary, he said, to fill a jurisdictional voice in the law resulting from a 1950 ruling of the attorney general that the Navy secretary has no legal authority to develop, operate and lease the reserves.

The bill since has passed the House and is pending in a Sen-

In addition, the bill would authorize the interior department to take possession of and administer the experimental mine and plant on the Naval reserve at Rifle, Colo. The department's Bureau of Mines built the plant by authority of Congress.

The bureau carried on a research program there until June 30, 1956, when the plant was place on standby status. Under the pending bill, the bureau could resume a research program there or lease the plant to a private firm for research operations.

Lovell noted the Green River shale deposits in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming are estimated to contain about one trillion barrels of recoverable shale oil of recoverable shale oil.

"The oil from shale in these reserves and the surrounding areas may well be needed in the event of a national emergency." he said. "But it cannot become available until such time as an oil shale industry has been established in the area to extract the oil and convert it into usable prod-

The Navy's oil shale reserves are in Garfield County, Colo., and in Carbon and Unitah Counties, Utah.

British Court Upholds Order to Return Soblen

LONDON (AP) —The British Court of Appeal today refused to free fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen and upheld an order to deport him to the United States.

The court dismissed his appeal for a writ of habeas corpus.

The ruling—fourth adverse decision Soblen has met in the British courts—means he may be deported to serve a life sentence in the United States for disclosing wartime secrets to the Soviet Union. One last resort still lies open. Soblen can seek leave to appeal to the House of Lords, highest ribunal in the land. Only the nation's top law lords can now reverse the ruling given today. Soblen's lawyers have said they vould carry the case to the lords. Soblen, .61, a psychiatrist, has been in England since July 1, when he stabbed himself aboard an Israeli airliner bound from Tel Aviv to New York. Since then Home Secretary Henry Brooke has been trying to send him on to the United States.

Soblen jumped $100,000 bail and fled to Israel on a bogus passport.

Rockefeller Favors 'Silent Meditation'

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Gov.
Nelson A. Rockefeller says he is strongly in favor of a period of silent meditation to open the day in public schools.

The governor commented Thursday on a ruling by State Education Commissioner James E. Allen, who said there was nothing illegal about such a practice.

Allen ruled Wednesday that use of a verse of the Star-Spangled Banner as a classroom prayer is a violation of a U.S. Supreme Court decision that official payers in public schools are unconstitutional.

Rockefeller expressed his views at a news conference.

'Liberty Valance' Set for Vista-Vue

"The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," a John Ford Production, starring James Stewart and John Wayne, opens Wednesday at the Vista-Vue Theatre. Directed by Ford, a four-time Academy Award winner, the Paramount release co-stars Vera Miles, Lee Marvin and Edmond O'Brien and features -ndy Devine, Ken Murray and John Carradine.

Stewart and Wayne join forces for the first time in their long and brilliant careers to create two strong, memorable characterizations: Ranse, a courageous, idealistic lawyer whose reputation as the man who shot Liberty Valance, although abhorrent to him, affords him the opportunity to win statehood for a western territory and fame for himself; and Tom, quiet, respected rancher and only person feared by Valance, whe creates a legend and propels Ranse to fame-all for the woman he loves. Lovely Vera Miles plays the girl in their lives, a young woman faced with the necessity of begging help from the man in love with her for the man she loves.

Bing Crosby is starred in the second feature, "High Time,"

Westerns Decline For Fall TV

By DICK KLEINER Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK - (NEA) - If reruns come, can fall be far be-

So perhaps this would be a good time to look at television's fall schedule, and dream a little as we watch Frontier Circus for the third time or The Zane Grey Theater for the fifth.

This coming season will see 33 new shows replacing 39 programs which folded or have not been renewed. Next season there will be more hour-long shows, fewer half-hour shows, hence the lower

One major trend is the decline of Westerns. Five Westerns which were on the air last year have bitten the dust-Frontier Circus. Lawman, Tales of Wells Fargo, The Tall Man and Outlaws. Only one new Western is due-The Vir ginians, NBC's 90-minute program which is frankly, an experiment.

Two such, Stoney Burke and Wide Country, are on the fall schedule And there's also Empire, which is set in today's ranch country. while old-fashioned Westerns are on the decline, there are newfashioned Westerns moving up.

Last season's big hits-Ben Cas-ey and Dr. Kildare-have, of course, inspired some competition. But not as much competition as was originally expected There are only three shows with even slight medical tinges, and each has certain original touches. The Eleventh Hour features Wendell Corey as a psychiatrist; The Shirley Conway as nurses; Don't Call Me Charlie has Josh Peine as an Army veterinary in Paris.

One trend that seems to be shaping up is the war story. There itary action. Juilliard's summer "camp" is probably the furthest extension of such a project by any school, and have occurred while changes there in New York, as well as in the Aspen picture in general, Singer's departure certainly is a milestone, of one kind or another

Aspen, however, has had foresight in planning, and not the least in geography, to have a double season: The summer, and then the ski season in the winter. Looking over the picture in genal, there is nothing to indicate any kind of pessimism. On the contrary.

Typical, perhaps, are two recent notices in Aspen: One about a new subdivision in the West End, "near the tent," which only twelve lots will be sold from a third to an acre in size, starting at $10,000 (per lot)! With cash preferred.

The other notice is from the Aspen Skiing Corp. ports earnings of $147,000 for the 1961-62 season, which is over $42, 000 more than the previous year with the current season being Some towns prohibited equally favorable, since booking for the Christmas skiing holidays, for instance, are already in full swing at the motels. This, in view that a few days ago the Chamber of Commerce in Aspen approved a motion to institute interchangeable tickets for the three ski hill lifts in the Aspen area in order to benefit, and attract, the skiers more than ever

There are, however, no indications that Aspen sees the need to seek the cut - rate, mass tourist trade. On the contrary, prices seem to remain at their usual level there, though not outrageous, yet higher than some other tourist areas, which is reflected primarily in the real estate trade and in rents.

At the same time, efforts are made to improve the products which Aspen offers, namely recreation. In line with this, Aspenites are discussing whether to locate a public ice rink near the cemetery, or in a downtown park. As William R. Dunaway, editor of the apparently flourishing As-
